The Governor's Address.

Our readers have the Address of Governor Wells before them, and it is perhaps unnecessary that any extended comments should be made upon it. The political topics, with which so large a portion of it is occupied, are handled so plainly in a partisan spirit, that those who run may read. Upon the slavery question, he is quite as sectional in spirit as President Pierce, although disposed to evade any direct allusion to the particular condition of things in Kansas. Indeed, he does not mention that Territory, we think. But for all that, the line of his argument is entirely Southern in its tone—defending and excusing the slaveholders, and apologizing for their encroachments,—upholding the institution itself, or at least representing its evils in a very faint light of condemnation, while he holds up the dangers of emancipation as by all means to be avoided. That great, patriotic and truly conservative class of freemen who believe that a true regard for the Union, and for humanity, dictates the restriction of slavery to its constitutional limits, he stigmatizes, by plain implication, as "wild abolitionists," and members of "pernicious political associations, threatening to destroy the foundations of the Republic"—while he has not a single word of rebuke for the Southern fire eaters and disunionists, who openly threaten to dissolve the Union, unless slavery is declared to be everywhere "protected by the Constitution."

He deprecates in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, whereby slavery is left free to encroach on territory once solemnly devoted to liberty,—and declares for Pierce's squatter sovereignty doctrine, which would deny to Congress any right to exclude Mormon, Chinese, Hindoo or any other heathen States from the Union.

In deprecating the abolition of slavery, he appeals to the fears of the North, by representing that we should experience the horrible fate of being overrun and perhaps eaten up by free negroes—apparently forgetting that the South could no more dispense with the labor of the blacks when in a state of freedom, than they can dispense with it in a condition of slavery, and that, if free, the blacks would from choice prefer to labor in the climate most congenial to their natures. He goes for sending them off to Africa in national vessels, as fast as possible, but doesn't inform us how much he would respect to abolish the institution of slavery in this way! If the negro race is capable of self government, (he says) and possesses the power of advancement in self culture, they would have ample scope for its exercise on the continent of Africa"—which we take to be free enough,—and the same might be said of any class of our foreign immigrants, who, nevertheless, he thinks it for our advantage to keep in this country.

We need say no more, however, upon this part of the Address. Its tone is that of a Southern rather than a Northern document, contrasting remarkably with the tone of the democratic leaders in this State, when Wilmot Proviso resolutions and speeches were the order of the day.

We can touch only upon one other portion of the message—that which relates to the liquor traffic. And this portion is somewhat of a curiosity. "Whether a person will or will not use liquor as a beverage (he says) is a question for his own determination—and coercion in this respect is persecution." But yet, he continues, "there are some classes of persons to whom sales should be prohibited.

"The liability to abuse and excess (he says) calls upon society to restrain the sale of liquor so far as is consistent with the liberty of the citizens." But what would his restraining amount to practically, under his plan of "granting licenses to as many sellers as will conscientiously accommodate the purchasers" Tremendous restraint this, truly! The amount of sales to be graduated by the demand. And yet, he says, the wants of the community will be satisfied with a very restricted sale" if this is done. On the principle, we suppose, that the more facilities given for the sale of an article, the less will be the number of purchasers! But in the next sentence the Governor strangely contravenes this doctrine, by suggesting that "innholders should be allowed to sell only to their guests and to travellers." Why they ought not to do their part fully in accommodating purchasers, we cannot well perceive.

The Governor does not see that innholders, in furnishing liquors to their guests and to travellers "would be in the same situation as heads of families," will strike the reader as a natural one—at least in these times, when it is not exactly regarded as one of the duties of the head of a family to furnish intoxicating drinks, either to his wife and children or to his guests.

His next suggestion, that "the public good requires that no liquors should be allowed to be drank in the shops where they are sold" is also somewhat inconsistent with his desire to accommodate the purchaser, and would be rather an inconvenient code for those "guests and travellers" if applied to them. The practice, he says, "would lead to breaches of the peace and other practices injurious to society." The question arises, if drinking in shops would lead to these things, why would not drinking in taverns (or in the streets, to which perhaps he would have the drinkers resort) lead to the same things? Another point we should be glad to have elucidated. Is the Governor going to give the seller the "liberty" to sell liquor, and take away the "liberty" of the citizen to drink it?—thus reversing the Maine law—or will he adopt an "arbitrary" rule as to where he shall drink it? Does the Governor suggest that the public streets shall be turned into "tippling shops?" Or will he still further take away from the "liberties of the citizen," by saying that he shall drink neither in the shops nor in the streets?

But we hope no one pauses to specify any further items of the Governor's plan—except to say that he thinks fully two of the recommendations of the Governor's predecessor, to be objectionable.

The following topics of the Governor's address, we have not space to notice:

The legalization of the manufacture of liquors for sale in cases of sickness.

The selling of liquors for medicinal purposes.

The dress we have not space to notice.

The Whig and Courier was elected yesterday by a majority of more than [illegible] democratic Governor was elected by men professing to be Whigs, but who, in fact, will be found to be abandoned their party in that of the democratic party, and who will assume itself upon the ancient organization as the only Whig party in the world, that is true to its principles.

Sudden Death. A man, named James Moore, in the employ of Andrew Hasey, was found dead in the road on Burleigh's Flats, yesterday morning. He had started on Monday afternoon with a load for the city, with a horse and sled, but a short distance from the house where found. His body was brought to the City Hall, and an inquest held under direction of Coroner Wilson yesterday—death from disease unknown—at first supposed to have died in a fit. Dr. Hanson, on examination of the body, found that he died of disease of the heart. He was a single man.

The New American Review for January, has come to our table before the old year had done with its end. The number contains articles of more than usual variety and interest. Their titles are as follows: 1. Life, Services and Works of Henry Wheaton. 2. Bertol's Pictures of Europe. 3. Statistics of Insanity, in Massachusetts. 4. Sydney Smith. 5. The Romish Hierarchy. 6. History of the Jesuits. 7. The Pacific Railroad. 8. The Pacific Railroad. 9. American Poetry. 10. German Emigration to America. 11. Critical Notices.

Crosby, Nichols & Co. of Boston, are the publishers of the Review.

The Maine Evangelist. The first number of the new Congregational paper is received. It is printed at Portland by Brown Thurston and edited by S. F. Fessenden, the publisher. The paper makes a very handsome appearance and is edited with much ability. It is announced that "the main design of the Evangelist will be to exhibit and advocate the gospel of Christ according to the received doctrines and usages of the Congregational churches in Maine.

The Boston Journal.—We call attention to an advertisment of this excellent newspaper. For ability, enterprise and discrimination it is not surpassed by any paper in the country, and it has few equals anywhere. For six or eight years past it has been constantly improving in its amount and diversity of its matter, and increasing in circulation.

A letter from San Francisco, Cal., says, that the extent of the cigar business in that city is immense. A single stand within a large hotel has been rented for $20 per day, payable daily. There is another of less note for which $1000 per month has just been paid for the last two years. The consumption of the "weed" in California is awful.

Macaulay's History.—We notice that Messrs. Phillips, Sampson & Co have in press the third and fourth volumes of Macaulay's History of England, to be issued uniform with the first and second volumes. The reputation of this house for enterprise leads us to hope that their reprint will be ready in very few days.

It is proposed to post large placards all over the city of London, containing passages from the Bible, printed in the largest characters, so as to arrest attention. Each placard to contain only one verse, and sometimes only one sentence, and to be renewed as frequently as the funds obtained will permit.

Seized Liquor. In the case of the large liquor seizure made by Marshal Farnham a few weeks ago, and which was appealed to a jury, the seizure has been sustained. The case carried up, however on a law question.

The Rockland Gazette comes to us enlarged and typographically improved. The Gazette is one of the very best weeklies in the State—and we are glad to see this indication of its prosperity.

The mail going west now closes at 10 P M—allowing time, generally, to reply to letters after the arrival and assortment of the mail from the west.

The Christian Mirror.—The last number of the Mirror contains the valedictory of Father Cummings and the inaugural of Rev E. T. Cutler, its new editor.

Cool. On Monday morning the mercury stood at 15 to 22 degrees below zero, in different parts of the city.

Supreme Court.—A large number of cases were disposed of last week by nonsuit, default, &c.

In the case of Manula D Palmer vs city of Bangor, for injury received from a defect in a sidewalk, the Jury disagreed. This is the second trial with the same result. Knowles and Briggs for pltf, Kent and Wakefield for city.

Emma C Leavitt, by her next friend, vs. city of Bangor, for injury received by falling into a reservoir on Center st. Verdict for city. Peters for pltf, A G Wakefield, city solicitor, for city.

Rodney Tailor vs Charles Godfrey et als, action of malicious prosecution, in charging the pltf with a violation of the liquor law. Jury disagreed. Rowe and Badger for pltf, Kent and John E. Godfrey for defts.

Cold and Snow at the West. The Milwaukie Sentinel states that on the 23d ult. the mercury fell 10 and 15 degrees below zero, and farmers back from the lake to 21 degrees. At Bloomington, Illinois, on the evening of the 22d, the weather was fine, with the mercury 40 degrees below zero. The next morning there was a snow storm and the mercury had fallen to 8 degrees below zero. Snow fell at intervals for three days, and on the 26th the mercury was 18 degrees below. One day last week the trains on the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad were detained about twenty-four hours by the immense quantity of snow which fell during the time. At Laporte it is said to be about two and a half feet in depth.

Washington Items.

Washington, Jan. 5. The correspondent of the Times, on Tuesday, says: "Letters from Republican sources of all parties continue to arrive in this city, recommending the firmness of Banks, denouncing the strugglers, urging the politicians to maintain their candidate until Congress expires, and offering to advance money for their per diem, if necessary, from the fund of appropriation."

Mr Greeley (same day) telegraphs

Do not believe the various rumors sent to your city that the Republican men are about to bolt.—They have no thought of deserting the strugglers, and mean to stick and vote, and vote, and vote, until the Administration is sufficiently in need of appropriations to suffer the plurality vote to be adopted.

This would have occurred long since, but for secret assurances from nominal Banks men that Banks support would break up if the election should be prolonged a little longer. Whenever this delusion is thoroughly dispelled, the plurality rule will prevail and Mr Banks will be chosen Speaker.

The remarks on Slavery in the President's Message are generally execrated by all Northern men here, while Southern Democrats and Know Nothings are vieing with each other in praise thereof.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says:

"It is stated that England has sent full powers to Mr Crampton to negotiate a treaty abandoning her pretensions in Central America, if she is permitted to remain there. I seriously doubt the story—but, if it is true, it is merely a proposition to be suppressed a felony, and our Government will not entertain it.

It is expected here that Great Britain will propose to submit the Central American question to arbitration—which is not likely to be agreed to by us, especially as at present there is no guest European power that we could trust to except Russia."

The Washington correspondent of the Courier and Inquirer says:

"In regard to the authorship of the Message, the impression is general that it was edited by the President, but that it was written in scraps by the members of the Cabinet and other persons attached to the Administration. The first part, which treats of foreign affairs, is attributed to Governor Marcy; the closing division, referring to Federal politics, to General Cushing. In reference to the personal part of it, Hon G W. Jones of Tennessee remarked that the President had got further South than he had ever gone.

In the House, on Thursday, Mr Mace of Indiana, offered a resolution, "that the door-keeper be required to lock all the doors leading to the Hall of Congress and keep them securely fastened till a Speaker is elected, unless they are opened for the purpose of letting in absent members." Mr. Mace quoted as a precedent the election of a Pope to succeed Clement the IV., in 1668. The Cardinals were for nearly three years unable to agree on the choice of a successor, and were on the point of breaking up, when the magistrates of Rome, by the advice of St. Benjamin, shut the gates of the city, thus locking up the Cardinals till they agreed. We need not add that the resolution was tabled.

The Fusion at Augusta.—Our readers will see in the Legislative proceedings, that the hon democracy and the lamb-like whigism have lovingly laid down together—unless it be that the former has made "mutton" of the latter—But every thing looks, on the surface, surprisingly harmonious. Who could have thought that these gentlemen, who made it the heaviest objection to the supporters of Mr Morrill that they constituted a "fusion of different parties, could have so soon copied and surpassed the example. It is now said that the straitest whig at Augusta cannot be distinguished from the most rabid partizan of Douglas and Pierce! We know not how that may be, but there is, certainly, between the two parties, that fact as a writer in the Argus expresses it, "the most perfect unanimity and the utmost harmony of action."

Mr Reed who was taken up on the ground that he had been too much neglected—Mr Reed who was nominated by his own reliable friends as a protestation against "treachery"—Mr Reed, of whom it was declared that he could be made Governor, and should be if it were possible—this same Mr Reed is remorselessly whistled down the wind" at the beck of the Custom House clique! Even our friend Cochran seems to think that this summary desertion is necessary to the "elevation of the masses," and now a word has he to say about Judah? If Isaac Reed's supporters like, the whole of this, we have nothing to urge against it. But "straight" men can turn short corners.

Portland Advertiser.

Gen Walker.—According to the Washington Star, the prospects of Gen Walker in Nicaragua, are anything but flattering. The Star says:

"The last arrivals from San Juan del Norte brought letters from Washington, which rendered it certain that Walker's situation there is exceedingly critical. He cannot trust a single native beyond the rules of his men. His military chest does not contain a dollar! The twelve thousand dollars which Parker H. French brought to this country was every dollar but that Walker had been able to clutch in Nicaragua, and he was forced to part with it, as without encouragement and material from the United States, his position, if not immediately seized by the hand of the law, and in the face, and it (accept) will be obtained here through the application of dollars! All Walker's hopes turn on the meeting of French's New York and Government having summarily attended to it, will not be long ere Walker's star go the way of Kinney and his."

Melancholy Occurrence—Sudden Death. We regret to be called upon this morning to announce the sudden death of Dr. F. D. Ellsbury, which occurred at his residence on the corner of Andrews and Chatham streets, about twenty minutes past twelve o'clock this morning. The Doctor was subject to insanity, produced by an over anxiety on matters of a religious nature, but we believe he had been free from any attack of this kind for the past fifteen years, until quite recently. It was the intention of his relatives to have conveyed him to the Asylum at Utica this morning, but to this he was strenuously opposed. Yesterday afternoon about two o'clock, he proceeded to the attic of his house and laid down, but at the request of his brother he arose, and proceeding to his room, undressed and went to bed. Alarming symptoms soon manifested themselves and a number of physicians were immediately called, but notwithstanding their untiring efforts, he died at a little after twelve o'clock this morning.

A report was current this morning that he had committed suicide by taking morphine, but we learn that there is not the slightest ground for any such statement. The physicians have made an examination and are unanimous in the opinion that his death was caused by a disease of the brain.

Dr. Pillsbury came to this city about a year ago from Lowell, Massachusetts, and brought with him commendations of the highest character as a physician, scholar and gentleman.—He had acquired an extensive practice during his short residence here, and was highly esteemed by his brethren of the profession not only, but by all who knew him. His sudden and melancholy death has plunged an interesting family and large circle of relatives and friends into the deepest grief, and we are sure they will receive the sympathies of the entire community. His age was fifty years and he leaves a wife and two children. His remains will be taken to Lowell, Mass., for interment.

We believe Dr P was to have delivered the annual address before the Monroe County Medical Society at its session in May next.

Rochester Union.

Further Outrages in Kansas!

Just so, in common with all the decent people of all parties and opinions in the United States, we were beginning to congratulate ourselves that the reign of outrage and violence was suspended for the present in Kansas, news arrives—for which see the letters of our intelligent special correspondent—of four other outbreaks of ruffianism on the part of the self styled "law and order" party.

Our readers will recollect that the 15th of December was the day fixed upon for taking a vote of the people up on the new Free State Constitution. Upon that day a large body of Missouri Border Ruffians, lately engaged in the invasion of Kansas, assembled in the town of Leavenworth under pretense of being "honorably discharged from their late highly distinguished services in the cause of 'law and order,' and being so assembled to the number of hundreds, and with arms in their hands, these brave men whom the mere report of Sharp's rifles had lately frightened away from Lawrence, took advantage of the absence of the Free State men at dinner, to make an attack of wonderful boldness (for them) upon the room where the box of votes was deposited, and which was guarded at the time by only three persons. Two of these who were armed made good their escape, the other, who was unarmed, the Border Ruffians attacked with the accustomed intrepidity, beat him, and would have killed him on the spot, had he not been rescued by a few Free State men, and one Reverend Mr Slavely in it who mustered to defend him.

But the outrages at Leavenworth did not cease with the breaking up of the balloting on the Free-State Constitution. A villian who had been concerned in an attempt at murder at Kickapoo, a few miles north of Leavenworth, having been arrested upon legal process and examined, was committed to the same jail at Leavenworth in which McCrea was recently imprisoned. His friends thereupon mustered in force, liberated the prisoner, and burned down the jail.—N. Y. Tribune.

Waterville College. We learn from The Zion's Advocate that an effort is to be made to increase the funds of Waterville College.—Measures will be taken at an early day towards this result. The design is to raise $60,000 in instalments, one third to be payable in six months from the time of subscribing, one third when the subscription shall have reached the sum of $60,000, provided that it shall be brought up to that sum within two years from the next annual commencement, (Aug 14, 1856.)

It is intended that as soon as the the sum of $50,000, clear of all expenses, shall have been paid into the treasury of the college, from the avails of said subscription, from that time forward no the college shall be remitted to all worthy candidates for the christian ministry, who shall desire the same; and $1,000 shall annually be appropriated from the funds of the college, which may be drawn upon for maintaining in connection with the institution a course of theological lectures. These lectures to be free to all who wish to attend them.

An addition of two officers will be made to the Faculty of Instruction, as soon as funds can be obtained to warrant it. At the next annual meeting of the Trustees, the report of a committee appointed to consider some plan of improvements in the course of study, will be made. It is hoped these efforts to increase the usefulness of this important institution will be encouraged by the friends of the college, that thus its influence may be greatly increased.

The correspondent of The Advocate says "the meeting of the Board was an encouraging one, both on account of the large number in attendance and the earnest spirit manifested by all present. The present is evidently a crisis in the history of the college, and we are strongly inclined to believe that it will prove one of those tides, which taken at the flood, will lead on to fortune."

Romantic. Officers Walker and Luce have seized within two or three days past, various pieces of jewelry, &c, which they found were stolen from the store of Messrs. Read & Hale, Main street. Scattered in the hands of various persons they found a diamond ring, boson pin, one gold watch and chain, two silver watches, three gold chains, &c. &c. Messrs. F & R had missed also a five dollar bill. We do not learn that the money has been recovered.

Mercury.

Baron Anslem von Rothschild is the third of the brothers Rothschild who has departed this life in 1855, the chef of the house in Naples, Carl, and the chef of the house in Vienna, Solomon, having already died this year. Of the five brothers there remains only James, the chef of the house in Paris. Baron Anslem was looked upon as the great financist Rothschild power, and, though possessed of less ability, education and education than his brothers, was a benighted genius at money matters, he died childless, and has left to the house a fortune of 30,000,000 gulden—($32,000,000.)

Amalgamation of Steamship Companies.—We learn that the Nicaragua Transit Company and the Pacific Steamship Company are about to amalgamate their interests. Commodore Vanderbilt is to have the contract on this side the continent, of all the ships at present belonging to the two companies, and the Aspinwall or those running on the Pacific side.

Boston Chronicle.

Rev. Wm H. Wilcox, of Kennebunk, Me. has received a call from the First church and society of Charlestown, Conn.

The Female Sailor. We find in the Philadelphia Ledger the following report of an examination of Emma Barnes, the female sailor, whose case we noticed a few days ago:

"What is your name?—Emma Barnes." "Where were you born, and what is your business?—"I was born in Moscow, in the State of Maine, and for eighteen months past have followed the sea as a sailor." "How old are you?—"I am a little over seventeen years." "Have you had a protection?—"I had, and have it now." "Under what name did you ship?—"George Stuart." "What is your height and weight?"—My height, Sir, in my bare feet, is full five feet nine and a quarter inches, and in weight is one hundred and eighty pounds on shore—at sea it is rather more." "Did you ship on board the ship James Rea?—"I did." "In what capacity?—"As an ordinary seaman." "Did you sign articles?—"I did not." "Under what name and what wages?—"George Stuart, and at eighteen dollars a month." "Did you get you advance?—"I did not." "Did you go in the ship and do your duty as an ordinary seaman?"—"Certainly, and I came back to this port when the ship put back." "Are you a sailor, and can you go aloft and do all you ought to do?"—"As an ordinary seaman, I think I have no superior, as a cook and steward, every captain has said I was A No 1." "What is the duty of an ordinary seaman?"—"It is to do all he can, obey orders and work cheerfully, that I have always done." "Is the James Rea a staunch ship?—"She is a crank ship." "What do you mean by a crank ship?—"I mean that her rigging is too heavy for her hull, and she is not ballasted right." "Why didn't they put your advance money?—"I had, I cannot tell. I know I deserved it." "Do you like the sea?—"That I do, rough as it is, there is something pleasant about it—a landsman's life is but one thing over and over again. A sailor at sea is kept too busy to be troubled with blues." "Where do you intend to go next?—"Down East to see my friends and folks at home." "How did you conceal your sex?—"That Sir, I can tell you now, perhaps when we are better acquainted and are alone I may tell you women can keep secrets as well as men." "Did a you pick a Yankee captain once?"—"That I did. I was round the Horn, I mind it well, he was a big fellow, as big as I am, but over six feet." He picked a quarrel with me and struck me with his fist. I knocked him down with a left hand blow—he fell on the quarter deck and hallooed like a calf, and I gave the saucy fellow just what he deserved." "Were you not afraid to trust yourself with sailors?—"God knows I was not. They are easily managed, and generally speaking, they are the warmest hearted beings in the world. I drank and smoked with them at all times." "George Stuart hasn't an enemy among them?—"Why yes, there is my old friend George's his last name I don't remember, (here the witness pointed out an old sailor in the corner chewing a monstrous quid and looking all astonishment,) many and many a night have we slept together." "Did you let him know you were a woman?—"Indeed I did not, the thought never entered my mind." "Are you really a woman?—"I suppose I am." "That is not a direct answer, are you a woman or not?—"On my oath, I am a woman and not a man."

At this answer some of the sailors present cried, 'George you know you lie,' but they were promptly called to order by the Alderman.

Keeping Cool.

Those calm and rational observations to "take it coolly" and "never cry for spilled milk," are very good till they are needed. They are extremely salutary before the lever kindles or the milk is spilled, but in the presence of pain or on the advent of a disaster, to all but those who are gifted with fortitude by nature, or have been disciplined in the school of affliction, they are about as effectual as whistling in the teeth of a nor wester.

Their utter impotence in the storm of passion reminds me of the directions given by a good New England deacon to his choleric son:

"Whenever you feel your dander rising, said he, 'be sure to say the Lord's Prayer my son or else the Alphabet clean through, and long before you get to the end you'll be as cool as a cucumber or an iceberg. Promise me faithfully my son."

"Yes, daddy, I promise."

Off trudged Jonathan to school, carrying his bread and meat, with a small bottle of molasses in his jacket pocket and his late promise uppermost in his mind.

A boy who bore an old grudge met him, and after calling him the 'young deacon,' and other scurrilous nicknames, caught him off his guard and threw him to the ground, tearing his jacket, and breaking his molasses bottle.

Now, it is said by economious Southrons, that a Yankee will take a great many hard names with the patience of a martyr; his spirit is wood proof, but tear his clothes or cheat his belly, and he will fight to the knife.

Up jumped Jonathan, his eyes wolfish, and his lips white with rage. But "there was an oath in heaven," and he did not forget it. So he proceeded to swallow his alphabetical pills, an antidote to wrath not mentioned in the Reverend Salerni tanum, nor recognized by the British College.

A, B, C—you've lored my jacket—D, E, F—you've spilt my lasses—G, H, I, J, K—you're a tarrel reader—L, M, N, O, P, Q—I'll learn you better manners, you scamp von—R, S, T, U, V—I'll settle yer picter, you old—W, X, Y, Z—ampersand, now I'll pound yer insides out o' you you encroachin' villain.

And with that Jonathan, whose profession had been mounting alphabetically through all his father's prescriptions of vowels and consonants, caught the young scapegrace, and throwing him down, was proceeding to work off each of the deacon's twenty-six anti-irascible pills in the shape of a dozen hearty knuckle, which might perhaps brought the poor fellow to the Omega of his days had not the timely approach of a passenger interrupted the manipulations. So much for rules to control the passions.

Knickerbocker.

Sad Casualty.—As Barney McGinnis was crossing Gardiner's Lake near the Eastern boundary of East Machias, on Saturday morning last, with a yoke of oxen, they broke through the ice and before assistance could be rendered man and oxen perished. He was a native of Ireland, had lived in E. M., for the last ten years, and leaves a wife an 1 four small children.—Machias Union.

Narrow Escape.—As Mr J. D. Bernard, Cashier of the Thomaston Bank, Thomaston, was leaving the building, Monday morning, Dec. 24th, the closing of the door occasioned the marble slab sign to fall from its resting place in the side of the building, barely grazing Mr. B.'s back in its descent, and crashing to atoms on the sidewalk.—Rockland Democrat.

Governor Shannon. A correspondent of the Post, in writing from Washington, says—"Gov. Shannon of Kansas is expected here in a few days, and it is said, will resign. If this should turn out to be so, a representative from the people of Kansas is here asking the appointment of Mr Woodson, the present Secretary of the Territory, in his place."

The jury have acquitted Israel Adams, engineer on the Camden and Amboy railroad, tried on charge of causing the death of Margaret Prescott and others, by criminal negligence in the management of the train which came in collision with Dr. Heinecken's carriage near Burlington, New Jersey, on the 20th of August last.

PAYMENT TO BE MADE

has for many years confessedly stood at the head of the newspaper press of New England. Its position was attained not through any special effort on the part of its publishers to increase the circulation by agents or other of the usual means, but because it has proved to be such a paper as a moral, intelligent man in the community can with propriety introduce into his family. It is to be read by his children and from which he can draw for them both instruction and entertainment. With such a character it has earned the position it occupies and the fact that its circulation is much larger than any other paper of the kind in New England is the clearest proof of the estimation in which it is held by the reading community.

It is our purpose now to greatly extend the circulation of the Weekly Journal. In preparation for doing this, we have procured with which to print it and have also ordered one of

Hoe's Six Cylinder Fast Presses,

with which we can print THIRTEEN THOUSAND COPIES AN HOUR. This press will enable us to build back our forms to a very late hour for important news and get to work off the edition in season for the mails. With this improvement in our printing department, we trust we shall please our readers as heretofore, a paper of the first class in New England. The general character of the paper has proved so acceptable that we shall allow no change. It is and will be emphatically

A Family Newspaper.

We intend that it shall be a complete record of all events of the age in which we live; that it shall be a useful and careful reader of its pages; and shall gather from them accurate and reliable information of every event of interest in politics and sciences, morals and religion, in this country and in foreign lands, and that they shall be a source of information at an earlier day than it can be obtained from any other source. To collect this information from the thousand and one sources from which it is to be sought to separate the wheat from the chaff, and to arrange and present it in a concise and intelligible manner, is a work which, although costly and laborious, we are willing to undertake, as we already have many years of experience. We feel confident that we can make the JOURNAL a welcome visitor to every family in New England.

EDUCATE THE CHILDREN. This is a matter for the serious consideration of every parent. It should be the first object of every man to educate his children, and no reasonable expense to enable him to do this should be spared. The most thorough manner.

The COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT of the JOURNAL is second to that of no other paper in New England. It contains a correct MARKET REPORT of the week, giving the amount of business in the different articles of commerce, and the fluctuations in prices. A separate article on the Boston MARKET (original) appears in the Journal of Saturday. Cambridge CATTLE MARKETS and the NEW YORK CATTLE MARKET SUMMARY. These reports are all prepared by men of large experience thoroughly conversant with the departments in charge and they are known to be full and correct. Merchants and traders throughout New England, to guide them in their purchases and sales.

The LITERARY DEPARTMENT will embrace reviews and extracts from all the works issued by the leading publishers throughout the country. In this way the readers of the JOURNAL get the cream of the literature of the country, and are enabled to select from the flood of new books issued such as are necessary for their centre tables, or the shelves of their libraries.

In the MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENT we shall make provision for the entertainment and instruction of our young friends. A good story, calculated to improve the mind and heart while it amuses, will appear in every number, and a department of sparkling, but wholesome wit and humor will be found in the (Morning Edition) is published every morning (Sundays excepted), and is sent to subscribers by mail in all parts of the United States for $6 a year. The proprietors of the Daily Journal are also proprietors of the Daily Bulletin, a paper which is issued every afternoon (Sundays excepted), and which contains the latest news by the mail steamers, by telegraph, and by any other daily paper; and they have the facilities to publish important news from all parts of the country in the Bulletin several hours in advance of any other paper. The subscription of the Daily Bulletin is $4 a year, in advance. Any subscription to the Daily Journal will include that of the Bulletin. The Bulletin is published in Boston only.

THE BOSTON DAILY JOURNAL

THE SEMI-WEEKLY JOURNAL

containing all the leading matter of the Daily Journal, is published every Tuesday and Friday, and sent to subscribers at FOUR DOLLARS a year.

is printed on the 9th and 19th of each month, and mailing by the steamers of the 10th and 20th. It is made up with the greatest care for the information of New England men in California, and contains TWELVE THOUSAND MORE A MONTH than any other paper printed in the Atlantic States. There is thus a much larger circulation than Congressional.

WASHINGTON, 7th.

In SENATE, Mr Brodhead called up the resolution directing the Committee on Finance to inquire into the expediency of reporting the General Appropriation Bills, or adopting some speedy action on them, in order to avoid night sessions at the close of each Congress, and scenes which he sense of delicacy prevented him from describing. He was in favor of doubling the pay of members, if thereby the sessions could be shortened.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Clayton, Toombs and Seward, and the resolution adopted.

Adjourned to Thursday.

In the HOUSE, another vote was taken:—Banks 101, Richardson 73, Fuller 29, Bennington 6, scattering 5.

Election of Executive Councillors.

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde:

The following were elected members, of the Executive Council, this afternoon, viz:

James C. Madigan,
Hastings Strickland,
Robert Elliot,
Abernethy Grover,
Artemas Libbey,
William M Look,
Alpheus S. Holden.

They are all old line Democrats.

Yours, A.

The Legislature accomplished nothing on Saturday—there having been a disagreement among the coalitionists in regard to Councillors and some other officers. The Augusta Journal says "the wild-cat wing claimed all the Councillors, but the Straits demanded two of them. A long caucus on Friday night was unable to effect an adjustment."

It will be seen by our despatch last evening, that the Straits were overborne, and the Council made up entirely from the wild-cat section.

The correspondent of the State of Maine admits that the lobby members are present in great numbers, and persevering in their efforts for offices also that Robert Martin and Charles Holden were presenting their claims for the Councillorship for Cumberland, before the democratic delegation, in entire disregard of the Wing members."

The Portland Advertiser says:

For Secretary of State the contest is between Col. Axer of Cornish, and Mr. Pike of Augusta, the chances favoring the former. For Treasurer of State there is some opposition on the part of Straight Whigs to giving it to Mr. Reed, the late Wing candidate for Governor, and who is said to be urgent in his claims to that office. Anne M. Robeens, Esq., of Bangor, is also talked of as a candidate, and should this office be conceded to the Democrats, he would stand a good chance of being elected.

The snow storm on Saturday and Sunday was terribly severe along the whole line of coast from Baltimore to Boston; the wind in many places blowing a gale, and the snow drifting so as to render the roads almost impassable. In Boston, the snow was from 18 inches to two feet deep, and many of the railroads were blocked up so as to render it almost impossible to run any trains.

Snow fell to the depth of six inches, as far south as Raleigh, N. C.—commencing there on Friday night.

THE LECTURE ON KANSAS, City Hall was filled last evening with an audience who heard with much pleasure and applause, an energetic and able lecture upon the recent occurrences in Kansas by J. Hutchinson, Esq., a delegate from the Territory.

Mr. H. gave an interesting account of the political history of the Territory—the outrages committed by the Missouri invaders, whereby an illegal Legislature and tyrannical laws were imposed upon the people, in gross violation of the Kansas Act, and for the purpose of fastening slavery upon the Territory—and also depicted in glowing terms the fixed determination of the Free State settlers to resist to the death any attempt at enforcing these infamous laws, and to defend themselves at all hazards against the ruffian invaders who have so often poured over the borders. He represents Kansas as the battle ground between the principles of Slavery and Freedom in this country, and believes that if slavery shall prevail there, (and the South is moving strongly to effect it,) so will it prevail throughout the Union. The Free State men are confident that they can hold the Territory against armed invasion, but still to do so effectually they need to be better armed, and to have an increase of energetic, determined, resolute men; and such men he says can go there without personal danger. The people have adopted a Free State Constitution, and will ask for admission as soon as Congress is organized. To aid that admission, at the present session, Mr. Hutchinson urges the people of New England and the free North to bring all their influence to bear upon Congress. If the slave power prevails in opposition to the admission at the present time, the people of Kansas will apply again and again—and meantime are determined to resist the enforcement of the black laws of the Ruffian Legislature.

We cannot, of course, give the report of the Lecture in the brief space we can possibly command. The speaker was frequently interrupted by applause.

MARINE DISASTERS. Schooner Sarah, Libby, of and for Machias from Boston, while anchored on the morning of 31 inst. off Tyler's Reef, near Cape Elizabeth, at 2½ o'clock, wind being light and sea heavy, she dragged her anchors; the crew was forced to slip her cables and run the vessel ashore in Broad Cove. She lies high and dry at low water.

Brig Friendship, of and from Kennebunk, Me. for New York, which put into Newport 11th ult. in distress, has been condemned as unseaworthy.

WISNER'S
Patent Washing Machine
THE subscriber has purchased the right to manufacture and sell the above named unrivalled Washing Machine in the City of Bangor. Its simplicity and efficiency no other Machine that invented has approached to it. More work can be accomplished with it in a given time, and with a less expenditure of strength and less injury to the clothes, than with any other.
Every one who has given it a fair trial has expressed the utmost satisfaction, and very numerous testimonials of its merit can be produced. The following will be found amply sufficient.

CERTIFICATE.
We the undersigned, have tried Wisner's Patent Washing Machine, in our families for some time, and after the adequate trial which it has received it is our opinion that it is the best and most simple machine that has ever come under our notice. It is worked with remarkable ease. A child of ten years of age may work it. It saves much of the time and labor usually required in washing process. It is certainly an excellent machine, and we recommend it to all.
